BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE VISIT:

The first day of the trip we will go directly to the Bay of Santander to see wintering Birds that are protected there. It will not be unusual to see the first Great Northern Diver and hopefully some Black-throated Diver or Red-necked Grebe.

In some years Gray Seals flock to this bay to spend the winter and feed.

On Sunday morning we will visit the Natural Park of Las Marismas de Santoña, Victoria and Joyel which hosts a large number of Birds that are difficult to find in other places of the Spanish Geography such as the Great Northern Loon, Barnacle and Brent Goose, Common Scoter, Razorbill, Slavonian Grebe, etc.

This day until the afternoon, we will visit the main observation points from where you can contemplate all the species listed below paying special attention to the large concentrations of waders.

In a comfortable tour through the main viewpoints can be observed all these species and even at a relatively close distance depending on the level and timing of the tides.

The best seasons to spot Birds are during migrations and from late fall through early spring.
